

To All The Boys I've Loved Before by Jenny Han
Reviewed by Anna

Book 1 in To All the Boys I've Loved Before series
Romance, Fiction

Give a summary without spoilers!

To All The Books I've Loved Before is a 3 book series about a teenage girl named Lara Jean. She writes letters whenever she has an intense crush, but she keeps them private in a shoe box that her mother gave her. One day Lara Jean is approached by one of the boys she wrote a letter about, who informs her that he received Lara Jean's letter in the mail. She later finds out that someone has sent out all of her letters without her permission. Lara-Jean and one of the boys start a fake relationship, but soon enough they are both questioning if the relationship is really fake.

What drew you to this book?

I was drawn to this book because I have read other romance books before and I have really enjoyed them, so I thought that this book would interest me. I was also drawn to the characters because they are teenagers, so I thought that this book would be relatable to me.

Did it remind you of something that you've previously read?

This book reminded me of several romance books I have read in the past. It especially reminded me of the book 11 Paper Hearts by Kelsey Hartwell. Both of the books are mainly focused on romance and the main characters are teenagers. These books are similar because in 11 Paper Hearts the main character has anonymous letters written to her, so it is similar to To All The Boys I've Loved Before.

To whom would you recommend this book?

I would recommend this book to teenagers looking for a romance book. The story line isn't super complex, so if you are looking for something light to read I would recommend this book.

Overall, did you like it and would you recommend it to others?

Overall I really enjoyed this book. I would highly recommend it to others. I would say that if you are interested in romance books then you will enjoy this book. I think that teenagers would really enjoy this book.

Anything else that you would like to add to this review? What made you choose it? Did you like the cover? Was it recommended to you? Did you find it at the library?

I had heard a lot of great things about this book prior to reading it, so that got me interested in reading it. I found this book on the library website and the cover made me interested in reading this book.