Book 1 of the Holes series.
Adventure Fiction with a little bit of mystery.

Give a summary without spoilers!

In this book the reader will meet Stanley Yelnats, a kid who got arrested for stealing a famous baseball player's shoes, which were supposed to be donated to charity. Obviously Stanley didn't steal these shoes, he was just in the wrong place at the wrong time. He and his family have been unlucky for a long time because of his 'no good pig-stealing great-grandfather.' However, the judge of his case ruled him guilty and gave him two options. Either he goes to Camp Green Lake and digs holes, or he goes to Juvie. He chooses to go to Camp Green Lake, and hopes to meet other people. Unfortunately, he had no idea what crazy adventures he would go on in Camp Green Lake.

What drew you to this book?

I love reading mystery books, so that really drew me in, and after reading the first chapter I could definitely tell that this was going to be a good book.

Did it remind you of something that you've previously read?

This book felt like a completely fresh idea for me, since I hadn't really read a book like it before. To this day I still think it is a completely unique book.

To whom would you recommend this book?

Anyone who likes adventures, mysteries, and lots of plot twists would definitely enjoy this book.

Overall, did you like it and would you recommend it to others?

I did enjoy this book a lot and would recommend it because of how perfectly the plot falls together, and because it keeps the reader engaged.

Anything else that you would like to add to this review? What made you choose it? Did you like the cover? Was it recommended to you? Did you find it at the library?

The cover was really interesting, and you couldn't tell too much by it, but if you give it a chance it won't disappoint. This wasn't recommended to me, I just found it at the library.
